Rigid Investigation.

The Missing Man Disappeared on the Morning of Feb. 12.

The Police Headquarters detectives have another mystery to solve, which may eventually develop into the discovery that Joseph Smoleck, a Bohemian tailor, twenty-eight years old, of 566 avenue, was murdered.

Smoleck disappeared from an East Thirty-third street tenement-house in firm, returned with the statement that itri Dimitri and his wife, Freda Dim-the early morning of Sunday, Feb. 12. the check had been stolen from the mails itri. They were dressed in all the baring of Feb. 11. Smoleck used to live in this tenement and without coat or vest, with slippers on his feet, and wearing a brown derby hat, on the evening of Saturday, Feb. 11, he left his slister's house by go to the party at Stahlba's, which is just around the corner.

That was the last seen of the young man by his relatives. He stopped in the saloon at the corner of First avenue and Thirry-third sireet and drank there. While in the saloon he met John Arnot, a watchmaker in Kauffman's cigar factory near by. Arnot lives with his wife on the top fibor of the Thirty-third street tenement.

It is said that Smoleck swaggered up to Arnot, and pulling a cigar out of the latter's mouth, threw it on the floor and ground it under his heel. As far as was ascertained, no fight then occurred.

At 10 o'clock Smoleck arrived at the Stahlba rooms, when the party was at its height and beer was flowing freely. The Stahlbas claim that Smoleck was too drunk for their company, and they told him to go away. He, however, lingered for some time and was bothersome.

Brown, a medical student aged twenty-five years, of 139 West Sixty-first street, was arraigned at the Yorkville Police Court to-day, charged with attempted suicide by Policeman Kerr, of the West Sixty-eighth street kerr, of the West Sixty-eighth street station. Kerr told Justice Koch that Brown drank a quantity of ether last evening at the corner of Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-first street. Brown, after being treated at Roose-welt Hospital, was locked up for the rest of the night. He denied the charge and said that he simply inhaled the ether to relieve pain. The Judge discharged him.

The stories as to the time of the occurrence of the next interesting thing in this case differ. Arnot says at 215 A. M. Smoleck went upstairs to the ton floor and knocked at his door. Arnot asked who was there, and says he received an obscene reply, which was respeated several times, while the door was yet locked. Arnot says he then recognized the voice of Smoleck, and opening the door, gave him a blow in the face. Smoleck. Arnot declares, and his wife corroborates him in the statement, the went downstairs for good.

That is the last seen of Smoleck by any one, as far as can be learned. The next morning Smoleck's derby hat was picked up in the helicary of the pack of the crown, and there were two holes, which appeared to have been made by an instrument of some kind striking it, possibly while on Smoleck's sister. She has it now.

The police of the East Thirty-fifth street station were notified, but no great effort apparently has been made to clear up the mystery surrounding the case. Smoleck's sister believes that her brother was murdered, and that his body was thrown into the East River, not many feet distant from the tenement. It may be that he walked into the river himself.

John Arnot laughs at the idea of Smoleck should have so myster foously disappeared, and far has hands. He says he is troubled, however, over the fact that Smoleck should have so myster foously disappeared, and far have recognized and clothing of the value of $300 was stolen.

friends yesterday, was very damaging against Dwyer.

Kress stated that on the night of June 18 last the policeman entered his restaurant and demanded a drink. When it was refused him he placed Kress under arrest. Several of the restaurant-keeper's friends protested against this, and they were also arrested. The next day Kress was fined $5 in the Tombs Court and his friends were discharged. Kress also alleges that while he was locked up in the station-house the door-keeper extorted $7 from him to send for a bondsman. The testimony will be finished to-day, and the case will be given to the jury to-morrow.

At the conclusion of this trial, Dwyer will have to face the Police Commissioners on the same complaint. LOANS procured on furniture; $25 only.
